

Dear Researchers,

Greetings from IIT Madras!

The last and final call for abstracts for the 14th International Conference on Tribology (IndiaTrib 2026) is now open. The conference will be held at IIT Madras, Chennai, India, from 10–12 December 2026.

The abstract submission deadline is 31 July 2026. This final extension has been granted in response to requests from many researchers, and no further extension will be provided.

High-quality abstracts presenting original research will be considered for full paper submission to reputed international journals or the conference proceedings, subject to the respective review processes. Authors are encouraged to include a few key figures or a graphical abstract in their submission, as this will facilitate the review process and assist in making appropriate recommendations.

IndiaTrib 2026 is being organized in association with the Tribology Society of India (TSI). The conference will cover a broad spectrum of tribology topics. Additional information, including the conference themes and submission guidelines, is available at www.indiatrib2026.org.

The conference will be hosted on the IIT Madras campus, providing an excellent opportunity to interact with faculty members, researchers, students, and industry professionals from around the world. IIT Madras is India's premier academic and research institution, consistently ranked No. 1 in India and among the Top 200 universities worldwide.

We warmly invite you to participate, present your latest research, exchange ideas with leading experts, and expand your professional network.

I would also appreciate it if you could share this invitation with your colleagues and research network.

The conference brochure is attached for your reference. Kindly circulate it among your colleagues and collaborators.

Warm regards

Prof R Gnanamorthy and Prof Ramkumar
