IndiaTrib-2022
December 12-14, 2022 | New Delhi

Tribology is defined as the science and technology of interacting surfaces. It involves friction, wear, lubrication and many other surface related phenomena. Although the tribological problems and solutions have been the subject of human endeavor since the antiquity, the word tribology was first mentioned in a UK Government report in 1966 under the chairmanship of (Late) H Peter Jost. Many studies since then have clearly shown that there are huge economic losses incurred globally because of tribological issues. It is estimated that about 1.4% of the gross national product (GNP) of industrialized nations could be saved by paying attention to the losses due to tribological contacts and providing appropriate solutions. There will be even greater savings in the global energy and materials if friction in machines can be minimized and controlled. Efficient tribological solutions minimize air pollution and reduce the damages, often permanent, done to the aquatic wildlife. Together, it has tremendous potential to reduce the carbon footprint and save the global environment, thus contributing to the social capital of a country and the world.

With the aim of addressing the issues of tribological problems and their solutions, the Indian Institute of Technology Delhi (India) is organizing the international conference IndiaTrib-2022 under the aegis of the Tribology Society of India.

Tribology Society of India (TSI) is a premier professional society set up with a vision to spread awareness and practice of Tribology all across India. To fulfill this mission, the Society has been organizing International Conferences on Industrial Tribology biennially in different parts of the country, to enable the practitioners of tribology to discuss and showcase their work in various aspects of this multidisciplinary area.

About IndiaTrib-2022

IndiaTrib-2022 is the upcoming mega tribology event in the series and will be the 11th International Conference on Industrial Tribology (ICIT) being organised by the Tribology Society of India since the year 1997 when the first International Conference on Industrial Tribology was organised at Kolkata. The last IndiaTrib conference was organized in 2019 at the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore.

IndiaTrib-2022 is being organised by the Indian Institute of Technology Delhi (I.I.T. Delhi), during December 12-14, 2022 in Delhi, India's capital city. The theme of the conference is “Tribology for Energy, Environment and Society”.

TSI is affiliated to the International Tribology Council, UK which has 33 other national societies spread all over the world.

The activities related to tribology in the country started way back in 1972, when first World Conference on Industrial Tribology (WCIT) was organized by Indian Institute of Technology at New Delhi. Continuing with this, a series of National and International Conferences had been organized in the last 49 years. Besides there are a number of academic and industrial centers in India actively pursuing research related activities in this area.
